MR. GEORGE DAWSON

"But O the heavy change, now thou art gone,
Now thou art gone, and never must return."

"Lycidas"
MILTON

George Dawson is no longer with us. It is impossible to say in a few words what Manhasset High School has lost. We shall miss his warmhearted personality and shall never forget his sincere interest in the students and in the school which he loved so dearly. To his memory we dedicate this 1952 Tower.

F O R E W O R D

We have attempted to write into these pages something of the spirit of Manhasset, so that the graduating class may never let the picture of its high school days slip from its memory.

We presented in the 1952 Tower a panorama of the school year and in doing so have added another page to the splendid history of Manhasset.

We hope that this volume may be a lasting memory to the high school career of the class of 1952, and that the friendships formed here at Manhasset may ever be renewed by the turning of these pages.

THE giant space-ship landed, bounced gently and came to a stop. A creature alighted. Stranger-looking than the figment of any fiction writer's imagination, this being was transparent and shiny, with outlines that were vaguely those of an ice cream cone turned upside down. At his uppermost point there was a glistening golden ball. The only thing that could be said to resemble eyes was a huge emerald-green stone set in the golden globe.

After descending from the ship, the creature turned slowly and seemed to be taking his bearings. The ship had landed on the grounds of Manhasset High School. It had come quietly. The students had not noticed its arrival because they were busy working (?).

Then across the field came a man, gesturing madly and pointing to the space-ship. Luckily, its owner understood English, so he promptly moved his ship to its proper place between the white lines. Once correctly parked, the rocket-ship was easily mistaken for just another car in the parking lot—and a rather conservative one at that!

The curiosity of the space-being was piqued by the hum of activity coming from the large, ivy-covered building nearby, so he wheeled towards it. As he did so, he seemed to become less and less discernible until there was only the golden ball to mark his progress.

As he was crossing the parking lot, a car came streaking toward him. It shrieked to a stop and he heard a very calm voice from within saying, "Remember, the pedestrian always has the right-of-way."

After he had crossed its path the car zoomed away.

Having reached an entrance to the building he went in. He strolled, or rather rolled, up the hall and gazed in through an open door. A tall, thin, young man, whose hair looked as if it had been cut by a lawn mower, was staunchly defending his argument that he did not give tests because the tests were homework and he did not give homework because the homework was a test. This seemed to confuse the stranger as much as it did the boys and girls who were listening intently.

The stranger then glanced into another room, presided over by someone whose voice told that he had obviously come deep from deep-in-the-heart-of-you-know-where. The man was listening with a despairing look in his eyes to a boy who was insisting that it was silly to go to all the trouble of proving that two lines were perpendicular when anyone could tell they were just by looking at the diagram. The stranger, who agreed completely with the boy, moved on.

Suddenly he heard a buzzing sound and out from all the rooms poured boys and girls, laughing and talking. For a moment he thought they were after him. But no one even spoke to him except for one boy who cautioned him to keep to the right side of the hall and a girl who reprimanded him for rolling up and down the banisters.

Looking into another room he saw "une petite personne" standing before a group of boys and girls. She held a book in her hand and evidently was reading to them. As he rolled by he heard: "Something there is that doesn't love a wall."

As he turned to find another point of interest, he was almost knocked over by a short man who was carrying a large brick case. Manhasset's visitor heard him say, "Latin is the basis of all living languages. Therefore, it, too, lives!"

Slightly dazed, our friend spun on. Suddenly his emerald bulged at the sign of a small, dark-haired senorita who smilingly said, "Buenas dias.

GLENN RAFFENSBERGER
Assistant Principal

He almost melted away.

On he rolled until he came to a room in which a scholarly looking gentleman was saying softly to a group of young people, "And now we shall study the literature of the Chinese, the Japanese, the Hindus, the Greeks and .

But the visitor didn't wait to hear the rest. Such a plan rather overwhelmed him.

He then came upon a stairway and up he slid. Up and up he went until he found himself at the door of a vile smelling room. From within he heard a voice saying, "You little sinner, why did you drink that acid without my permission? You see, when I was a boy in Nova Scotia, I made the same mistake."

After hearing a prophecy of a cold, cold winter, the creature rolled back downstairs.

He entered a room which was much more comfortable than the others. A young woman looked up and said sadly, "I'm afraid you haven't made much improvement since you started taking this course; in fact, your improvement has been practically nil."

The pear-shaped creature next glanced into a greenhouse. There he saw a short, energetic man proudly watering his crab-grass and predicting that the fruit flies were going to conquer the earth.

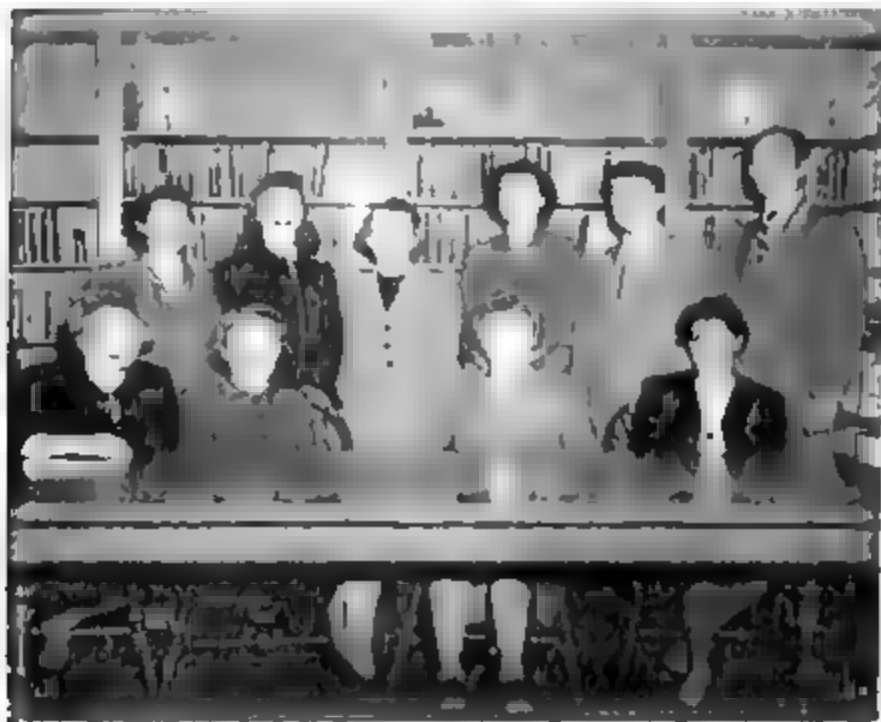

In a long hall our hero was approached by a bespectacled gentleman who called for him to stop. He demanded that the stranger produce a "pass." In amazement our friend opened his mouth and muttered unintelligible sounds, whereupon his questioner hastily said, "Well, I'll let it go this time, but don't let it happen again."

The next person he encountered was a small woman charlestoning down the hall, vivaciously singing, "Au Claire de la Lune."

Our friend next entered a large room which was very quiet. As the spaceman watched, one girl sneezed. A man looked up, smiled and said softly, "Gesundheit."

Our hero then looked into another room where the boys and girls were huffing and puffing. He wondered what they were doing. Suddenly the answer dawned on him—they were learning to breathe. The stranger was astounded when he realized this, because he had always considered breathing natural to the human race. The breathing was being led by a tall, blonde, dynamic woman. The general impression he got was enthusiasm and energy. As he backed away down the hall he heard a woman's voice, growing fainter and fainter, saying, "Inhale, exhale, inhale, exhale."

After his brief tour of Manhasset High School, our hero returned to his ship, still in the parking lot. Of course it did have a crumpled fender and a scratched door, but all in all the space-traveler decided that his trip to earth had been a profitable one. As he sat in his ship, watching the boys and girls stream out of the building, he realized that Manhasset High School resembled very much the educational center that he himself attended on Mars. He knew too that his report was due immediately on his return, so with one last backward look he sped up into the sky.

SENIOR CLASS

DON HESS
Senior President

IN the fall of 1948 a baby was born who was destined to become one of the most successful additions to the MHS family. We, the class of 1952, were that famous youngster.

Now that we are old and wise, we can fondly reflect upon those days when we entered the hallowed halls of MHS. Remember how we stumbled through the corridors, battling with the perils of hall traffic?

We were determined to be ultra-mature and to develop into a dependable class. We gained recognition from our older brothers and sisters in our freshman years. We excelled in dramatics. Rosemarie Barry, Peggy Flynn, and Jimmy Foster represented us in Little Women. Soon our literary skills were displayed by Midge Wilken, Ann Stiegler, Jay Ward, Don Dawidoff and Steve McGeeney who became editors of the Balcony.

In 1949, as older members of the MHS family, we welcomed the new frosh class. We agreed that this class was not to outdo us. Consequently, we continued our record of accomplishments by producing famous athletes, working on the fall production, being active in student government, and presenting the "Bali Hop."

In our junior year we plunged even deeper into school activities. Now we were slipping into the venerable position of "big wheels." In the fall, twelve peppy junior girls became MHS cheerleaders. The girls cheered at the games, spurring on our stars Don Dawidoff, Rog Dann, Dave Wright, Ronnie Wagner, Charley Martin, Lloyd Johnson, Bill Zeckhausen, Andy Bergesen, Marsh Rogan, Buddy Flance, Richie Kushay, and Bill Oliphant. And who can forget the musical talents of Mary Lynn Whitman, Bill Imhof, Barry Bockus, Midge Wilken, and Ann Bowditch?—and Sue Gross' dancing ability?

1950-1951 also marked the beginning of our new-found prestige when Dave Wright was elected President of the G. O., Rosemarie Barry editor-in-chief of the 1952 Tower, Leane Bancroft editor-in-chief of The Cub Reporter, Joan Mikkelsen captain of the Blue Team, and Ann Stiegler captain of the Orange Team.

Then came our Junior Prom, headed by Don Hess. That evening we crowned Clif Phalen and Ellen Tardiff Prince and Princess of the Prom.

The fall of 1951 was IT! We had become the best of the best—SENIORS! Everyone had told us that this year would be a "cinch," because we could run the school and homework would be a "breeze"! Unfortunately we had been the butt of a most cruel joke. There were tons of work, plenty of pressure, and lots of anxiety about getting accepted by colleges.

We chose "White Christmas" as the theme for our Senior Prom. With Bill Couchman as Chairman, the dance was another '52 success. The gym was packed with people "capturing forever the enchantment of the evening" as they "glided across the floor." Remember those couples, the decorations, and King Ronnie Wagner and Queen "Cookie" Riggs?

We have numerous souvenirs to remind us of four tremendous years at MHS. We can't forget our Tower informals, our Thirty Days to a More Powerful Vocabulary, our dance programs from "Cupid's Capers," the Tower assembly, and our teachers.

SENIOR PRIVILEGE

We seniors are graduating now. There is a feeling of pleasure and anticipation among us for we realize that we have grown up, that we are leaving MHS, and that most of us are going on to college or to careers. We make our exit from MHS with mixed emotions. We're happy, yet sad. We know that we're going to miss good old MHS. So keep out the welcome mat, Crew. We'll be back!

SENIOR OFFICERS

SENIOR PROM

THIS was it! At last our own Senior Prom was here. We had stood on the sidelines for three years, anxiously awaiting the time when it would be our prom. Now we were determined to make it the best ever. The decoration committee worked long and hard to transform the gym into a sparkling reflection of White Christmas, while the refreshment committee prepared rare and delicious delicacies(?) for the happy couples. Ticket sellers rushed madly through the halls distributing their wares to the strains of "White Christmas," while the publicity committee covered the walls with posters. And then before we knew it, we were there, dancing to the dreamy music of Jeno Bartel, and his "Continental," crowning Cookie and Ronnie, and enjoying one of the best times of the four years we spent at Manhasset. This was an evening we would never forget—our own Senior Prom!

ATHLETIC prowess, dramatic ability, brains, talent! You name it, the class of '53 has it. Yes sir, next year's prospective seniors seem to have everything.

Greatly responsible for the fine season enjoyed by the football team were Bruce Medd, Harvey Cooke, Bill Lawrence, Ted Munnecke, Danny Becker, Charley Strong, and last, but not least, all-scholastic Jimmy Brown.

Steve Heiman and Pete Lorson wielded mighty rackets for the tennis team; Don Easterly and Joe Amato were standouts on the soccer field. Pete Beckett held his own on the wrestling squad, and Jim Brown, Pete Detels, Don Easterly and Charley Strong sparkled on the basketball court.

The junior girls, who are not to be outdone in athletics, have shown a keen interest in all manner of sports. Mary Jo Rozell, Sandy Guy, Ann Chid-sey, and Gail Parsell have been valuable members of the Orange Team; Carole Smith, Kay Burton, Bettie Thorpe, and Janet Abbe are among those who have added their strength to the Blues. The junior girls have also seen to it that their class is well represented in both the GAC and the Leaders Club. This fall, after a bit of unfortunate confusion, twelve junior girls proved themselves agile enough to fill the bill as cheerleaders next year.

But these prospective seniors are an all around bunch. Another field in which they excel is dramatics. This is exemplified by the marvelous performances of Jean Andersen, Ted Bessell, Pam Thompson, and Joann Ford in The Late Christopher Bean. There are other juniors without whose participation many of our dramatic productions could never have been successes. Notable among these are Lynne Coulter acting in Pride and Prejudice, Jayne Rather and Tex Moore performing in The Wizard of Oz, and Sandy Peterson, Adrienne Littlewood, Steve Heiman, Nick Schroeder, and Bettie Kline holding down the backstage jobs. Tex Moore and Jeb Stuart were shepherds in this year's Christmas Pageant, and Steve Heiman and Gerry Johnson played the parts of Cain and Abel. Pete Beckett and Bill Stanforth made excellent scientists in this same production.

Don Easterly, president of his class this year, seems to be headed for a political career. He has held an important office every year, and this year he is piloting a very intelligent crew. The honor roll always bears the names of twenty-five or more juniors who have proved themselves tops scholastically.

If we are going to mention personalities in the class of '53, we must not forget Tom Jones, that loyal Bostonian, who tries hard to take over Miss Wilkinson's English class. Bruce Medd would appreciate suggestions on how he might escape his female-dominated French class. And don't forget the thanks we owe to Adrienne Littlewood and Harriette Clark for the work they have done for the Service Committee.

Yes, this year's juniors are now ready to demonstrate to MHS their abilities as school leaders. The class of '52 wishes them great success. With such versatility, how can they miss?

"THE tenth grade is the forgotten class!"

Whoever made this statement certainly couldn't have known our sophomores. Although they have been struggling through Caesar, speech and congruent triangles, traditional soph problems, the sophomores have, nonetheless, found time to participate in many activities and have demonstrated an abundance of school spirit. Forget them? How is it possible for us to forget a class who showed so much pep in the Service Committee drives, book sales, and many other fund-raising activities?

On the athletic field we saw Jim Wagner, Ed Corley, Brad Wright, Pat Callan, Bob King and Pete Gross helping Manhasset to complete one of its best football seasons. One of the brightest spots in the fall sports season was the excellent playing of Jim Wagner, the first string quarterback. Quite an accomplishment for a sophomore! When the basketball season arrived, many sophs could be seen practicing in the gym. Charlie Roberts, Bill Hess, Ted Kruckel, Brad Wright, and Pat Callan made the J. V. squad and next year will be trying hard for the varsity berth to keep Ed Corley company. On the girls' side of the gym, basketball activities produced such agile forwards and guards as Bev Feuss, Betty Bonn, Carole Mushier and Joan Hoppock. Barbara Ficken, Sarah Hamilton and Barbara Holzbog were stars on the hockey field and volleyball court.

Athletics weren't the only fields the class of '54 were active in. Whenever a dramatic program was given, we always found the names of Marc Brugnani, Debbi Fanto and Bobbi Sanderson appearing on the program either as actors or back stage workers. The sophs have brains, too. For proof we have Pete Gross, Jim Wagner and Carol Ostergren carrying home "A's." Student Congress also had many active members representing the sophomore class. In fact, every activity, from bird-banding to baseball and from chorus to Chess Club, has had its share of eager sophs.

Senior and junior girls have felt strongly the stiff competition given them by the sophomore female contingent. Bev Feuss, Janet Arps and Janet Wolfe have intrigued many a senior boy

Yes, the class of '54 definitely is colorful. A forgotten class? Hardly! Could anyone forget the outstanding personality of Ted "Little Gangster" Kruckel, the famous "Club 15," or Courtlandt's "casual" car? The Soph Hop was one of the best ever given. Could that have been because the class of '54's treasury was running over? So it was rumored

The class of '54 is certainly an outstanding one. The so-called "sophomore slump" definitely passed them by, and in its place we found the "sophomore spirit." Hats off to a wonderful class!

FRESHMAN CLASS

FRESHMAN OFFICERS

ACTIVITIES here, activities there;
Frosh in activities everywhere!

Yes, this class of 1955 is so full of vim and vigor that it has practically pushed the upper-classmen out of the activity spotlight. In girls' sports alone there was almost one hundred per cent participation. Barbara Dunning, Pat Petersen, and Joanne Mattson made the reserve hockey team; Claudia Leibrecht was the frosh representative on the all-star volleyball team. Karen Broemen, Barbara Tarbell, and Sally Pease showed basketball prowess, and Martha Fincke excelled in tumbling.

If the records of the freshman boys' teams were any indication, our coaches will have few worries in the future. Our varsity football team won't have long to wait for Ed Logue and Bruce Maxian. In the wrestling picture, Steve Handley and Ted Toombs have shown promise. On the basketball court, Ron Kramer, Joe Corley, Tom Hankenson, Jerry Gray, Bob Rogan and John Allen were outstanding.

There is plenty of talent in this class too! Marcia Brown and Bob Steinmetz are the artists. Many freshman actors and backstage workers were responsible for the success of the fall production. Zandra Walker, who was cast as the understudy to the leading lady, showed definite talent. Roger Detels and Gail Emrick were also valuable members of the understudy cast, and Kitty Gleeson rounded up costumes for the actors. Judy Thompson is famous for her piano playing and Claudia Liebrecht's soprano voice was a great asset to the choir in the Christmas Pageant. Looking toward a political career in M. H. S. are Bruce Maxian, Claudia Liebrecht, Barbara Tarbell, and Jay Wheatley.

There is an abundance of personality in the class of '55. Who can forget the pranks of Frank Bessel and Roger Detels? The upperclass girls were glancing at such dashing young men as Ed Logue, Bruce Maxian and Jay Wheatley. Wendy Weber, Martha Fincke, Claudia Liebrecht, Gail Lawrence and Judy Thompson attracted many an upperclassman's fancy. Yes, there is plenty of personality!

Liv Fagereng, Kitty Gleeson, Wendy Weber and Barbara Tarbell were constantly on the honor roll. Astonished upperclassmen even heard such remarks as:

"I'm so mad. He gave me a B. How will I ever live it down?"

"She's slipping; she got an A— on her Latin test."

As far as spirit goes, the freshmen can't be beaten. They were up at the top on both the library book sale and the clothing drive. Remember their cake sales? They knew all the cheers and shouted them louder than anyone else.

With the ability, initiative and personality it possesses, the class of '55 will certainly maintain the high standards it has established in its freshman year. We are proud of the class of 1955 for what it is now, and for what we know it will be in the future.

SPRING

WHEN the first groundhog peeped from his hole last spring, he was surprised to find MHS in the garb of a carnival. The SCA Jam-poree had taken over the school. It was wonderful, especially the Student Casaret, the Faculty Show and the Masway in the gym. This event set the lively tone for the spring of 1951.

No sooner had MHS recovered from this excitement when other big events descended upon it. Sports Night provided everyone with fun and entertainment. The entrance themes—Hawaii and the Gay Nineties—were especially exciting! Who or large Burpee's splendid modern dance?

About this time the newly elected Year Club members were getting things under way for a bang up subscription in 1952. Editor-in-Chief Rosemarie Barry had Steve McGeeney and Wendy Angus as

We didn't have to go to New York in order to see the circus last year. The Sophomores, under Adrienne Littlewood, brought it right to our doorstep with the Soph Hop. Mary Jo Rozell's decorations, Chloe Anderson's refreshments, Janet Albe and Jackie Binder's ticket selling all added up to a great dance. As for the entertainment, Harriette Clark's protégé, "Hobalong Cassidy," provided everybody with laughs.

On April 13 we recognized once again that our school had a music program to be proud of. That was the night when the annual Spring Concert of choir band and orchestra took place.

It was in April that fifty-six students joined faculty members in inaugurating the Student-Laboratory Committees. They were formed to attack six fundamental school problems and to solve them. All the students were especially hopeful that a senior privilege room and a reduction in home work would result from the discussions.

Things were happening faster than ever for the junior class. Its members were now sporting their fine new class rings. Junior homerooms nominated Cookie Riggs, Wendy Angus, Ellen Tardiff and Jackie White as possible successors to Glorian Devereaux as Manhasset's "Miss North Shore Hospital." Then the big assembly came and the school chose Jackie.

The class of 1952 met to make preliminary plans for the most colossal Junior Prom ever to take place in Manhasset. We chose Don Hess for the chairman of the dance, and committee heads Doxie Rozell, Barbara Mallory, Joan Mikkelsen and Albin Strandberg. Ann Stiegler had exotic refreshments in store for us and Sue Gross engaged the "Club 44 Orchestra." "Rhapsody in Blue" promised to be an unforgettable dance.

Before we knew it, spring vacation had come and gone, and the last few weeks of school were all that were left of the spring of 1951 at MHS. We were treated to an interesting assembly on liquid air and to another assembly put on by the language clubs. The latter included a Spanish dance and a French night club scene.

The MHS Radio Workshop's presentation of "Rip Van Winkle" over station WSHS was a great success. Charlie Biederman played Rip, Jayne Hamlett his nagging spouse, and George Hill acted as narrator. John Burrows, Craig Jennings, John Sturges, Sandy Longyear, Bill Butler and Bunny Walker rounded out an excellent cast who worked under Mary Lynn Whitman's able direction.

Sue Gross, Joan Pegg, Jean Hahibohm, Janet Burgess, Sandy Peterson, Willard Beard, Dave Kelly, Joel Hamilton and John Sturges earned their membership into the MHSDG. We were duly proud of Clinton Hanover for winning first place in the Long Island French Contest, Cynthia Freitag for earning an $850 a year scholarship to

Smith College, Fred Samuels for getting a $600 a year scholarship to Dartmouth College, and Jim Clappett and Bob Gschwind for leading the Manhasset representation to the Interscholastic Mathematics Competition at NYU.

The G. A. C. could now boast a brand new slate of officers for 1952. Sally O'Callaghan was named head, Dixie Rozell assistant head Wendy Angus, Carole Smith and Joan Wilkinson rounded out the Council's officers for 1951-52.

With the enlistment of many MHS boys in the armed services, the other males became a little uneasy about their own futures as civilians. They also began to feel more than ever that finishing high school was essential.

A nocturnal visit to New York gave Mr. Nanni's senior "block" class a wonderful experience. Highlight of the jaunt was the last part spent at Washington Market.

Plans for this year's Cub Reporter were started as Mary Lou Shaw, Janet Abbe, Don Dawidoff, Janet Burgess, Jayne Hamlett, Barry Bockus, Diane Scudder, Barbara Mallory and Ann Drolet were selected to serve with Editor-in-Chief Leane Hancock as its 1952 editors.

On May 19, all the juniors—all, that is save the oversleeping A. D. Strandberg labored through the Scholastic Aptitude Test and began to feel their growing maturity. In another year they, too, would leave Manhasset High School.

Then at last the long-awaited Junior Prom was here. Renting tuxes, buying formal, and other delightful details were forgotten for a night of dancing and fun. We chose Cliff Phalen and Ellen Tardiff for our Prince and Princess, though Charley Martin, Joan Toombs, Cookie Riggs and Ron Wagner provided keen competition. The dance, a tremendous success, was easily one of the high lights of the spring.

About that time we were all aglow over our baseball team's second league championship. Prospects for the 1952 season looked good, too, with pitchers Marsh Rogan and Lloyd Johnson, who would be back, together with Bud Flance, Charley Martin, Charley Strong, Bill Oliphant and other capable ballplayers.

The election of G. O. officers for 1951-52 followed a week of excellent campaigning. Reams of leaflets, posters and speeches told of the merits of the various candidates. At the colorful G. O. Election Dance the officers were announced. Dave Wright became President of the G. O., Kay Burton the Assistant Treasurer, Joan Toombs the Secretary of Student Congress, and Bill Butler Chairman of Student Congress. Cliff Phalen was to don the blue robes of Chief Justice of the Student Court. John Lane was elected Head of Proctors. Andy Bergesen, Bill Butler, Jackie White, Barbara Mallory, Betty Riggs, Dave Wright, Bill Couchman, Sue Gross and Charley Martin were to assist him in keeping order in our halls.

Dr. Collins found time to come to one of our assemblies for the purpose of informing us about the new junior high school. He said that it would be added on to the south side of the present high school building. Future MHS students would have improved athletic facilities and music rooms available to them, Dr. Collins told us.

A new idea to help shorten the Commencement Exercises was introduced in school during June. It involved an award assembly where many prizes were presented to the students.

On June 20, we witnessed a grand philanthropic effort by the MHS orchestra. This talented group presented a benefit concert to raise money for badly needed band uniforms. The music was splendid, and we thought that this type of co-operation among organizations of the school was most commendable.

It was decided to postpone electing National Honor Society members from the class of 1952 until the fall.

Preparations for Commencement were carried on by the seniors under Dr. Dawson and Mrs.

Hansen's able guidance. Much to the sorrow of the seniors, Mr. Dawson became ill and for the first time in over twenty years he was unable to attend Commencement.

On June 25, at the Commencement exercises, the Board of Education Scholarship was awarded to Marilyn Wittschen; School Community Association Scholarships, to Betsy Fincke and Edward Arps; the G. O. Scholarship, to Glorian Devereaux, the Superintendent's Trophy, to Edward Russell; and the Vogler Memorial Award in Lacrosse, to Burt Houseworth. Judy Shumway received at this time a $300 scholarship from the 1950 Tower.

The annual Senior Frolic of the SCA took place immediately after Commencement. This was a gay and exciting affair with a Mexican motif.

The year was now at a close. Seniors were leaving M. H. S. for college and the business world. The juniors looked forward to a summer of fun, before reentering MHS in the fall as Seniors. We were all sure, nevertheless, that it would be a long time before we could forget a year so packed with sports, awards, concerts, assemblies, dances, and just plain good times.

FALL

THE sun shone brightly at seven-thirty in the morning, but for most of Manhasset it was the middle of the night. Bzzz—unfortunately the alarm didn't melt over the summer. The light dawned—it was the first day of school. Happily we throttled the alarm and trotted off to greet our long lost friends whom we hadn't seen since the day before, and remake the acquaintance of our learned instructors who, we began to realize, were people, too.

But there was one empty place in the auditorium that day. We will not soon forget one of the best friends of all, Mr. George W. Dawson. No one will ever quite take the place that he had in the life of MHS. He was more than a teacher, more than a leader. He was a friend to all who knew him. The quiet, dignified service in his memory made a lasting impression on our hearts.

To our great dismay, but not to our surprise, we learned that the schedule had been changed again this year. Cramming five days' work into four became a problem—at least in the teachers' minds. But labs and gym were squeezed in this way, and it did make us remember the days of the week. Some of the freshmen got a jolt when the NBC chimes sounded and a voice suddenly issued out of the box on the wall, but they soon became accustomed to the seniors sharing the P. A. every afternoon with Harriette Clark.

Classes were of every sort and variety. Poor Jerry Rhodes was the lone male in a female French class, but he adapted himself very well. Ruthie Brinkman became famous for popping in and out of chemistry. She was more active than an experiment that blew up. Who wouldn't be if the responsibility of all the Tower informals rested on her shoulders? Ivy sneezed her way through World Lit, adding variety to each explosion. The cheerleaders delighted Mr. Ganley by waltzing in and out of his social studies class.

The football team got off to a good start and, except for the struggle with the "Oysters," came out victorious all around. Jim Brown's fourteen touchdowns won't be forgotten. But without the splendid playing of the whole team, MHS would never have had such a successful season. Ron Wagner, Dave Wright, Roger Dann and Jerry Jacob were important members of one of M. H. S.'s best teams.

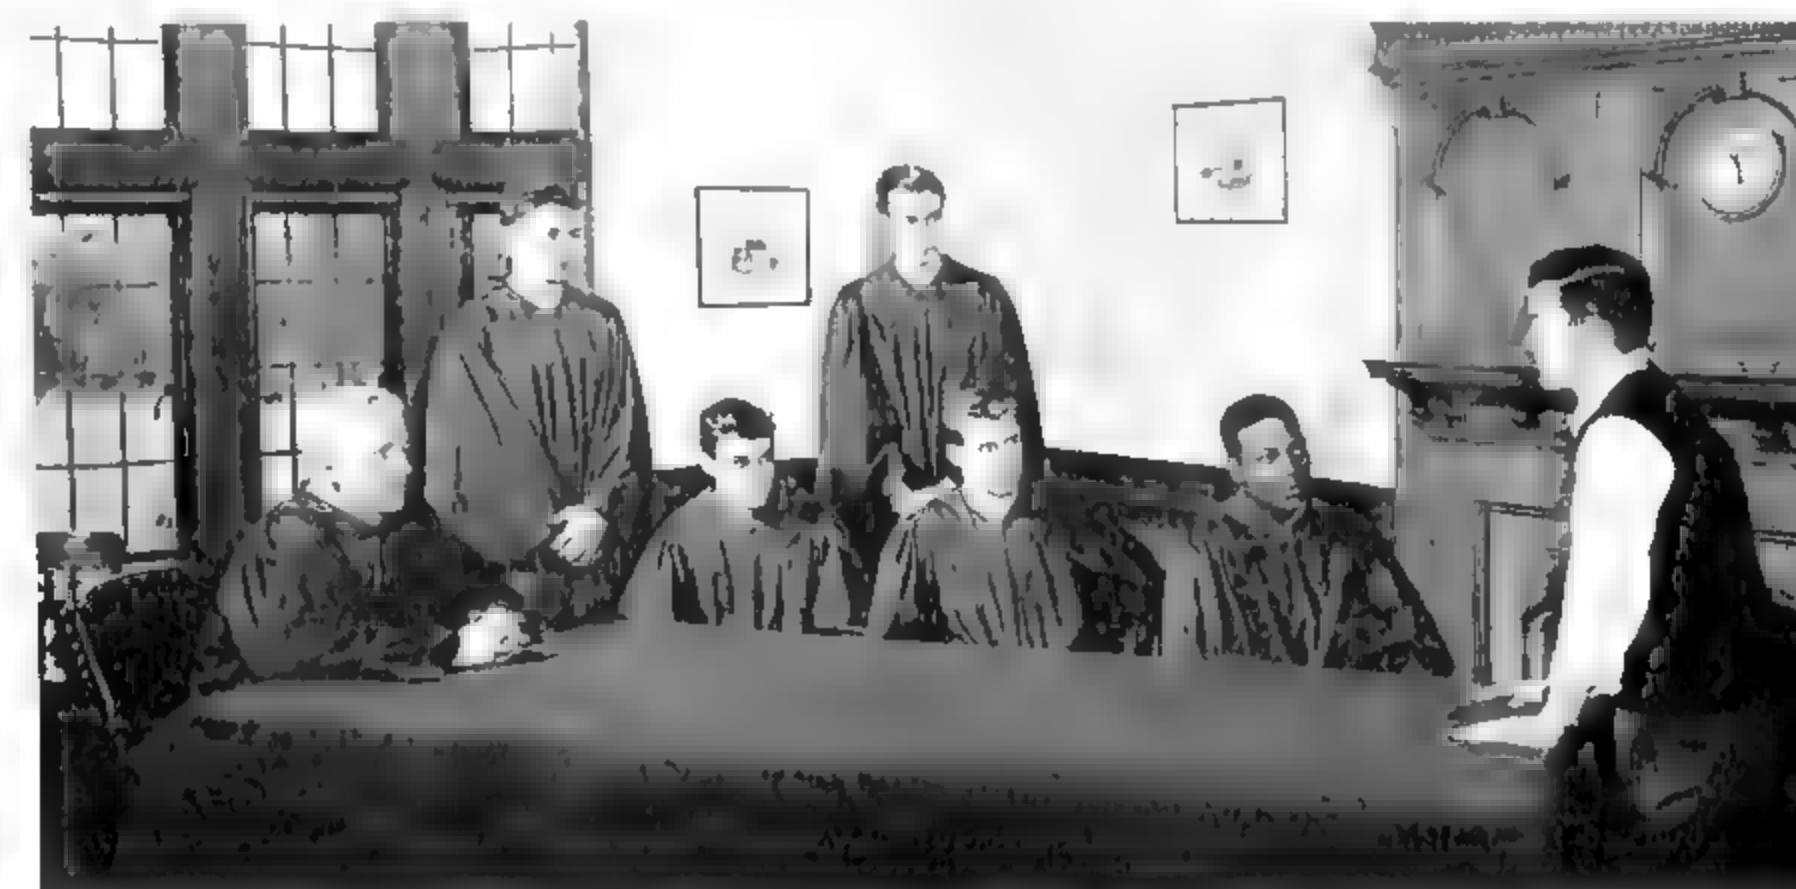

The girls did a good job of nearly ruining their dads at the Father-Daughter Night. It was really quite a sight to see the "older generation" shooting for baskets and swinging their partners. However, all the dads enjoyed it, or endured it, and the event was proclaimed a success.

This fall, too, there were assembly rallies and those wonderful bonfires. The huge, roaring pile in the center lent an eerie light to the circle of faces, as the cheerleaders, led by Marilyn Mattson, and the students chanted and cheered for an Indian victory.

One big surprise came at a pep rally in the assembly. Who should appear but our band, playing away like professionals. Thanks to Mr. Krueger's inspiring leadership, the band made a comeback that promises big things in the future.

The orchestra, faithfully practicing, was rewarded when eleven of its members were selected for the sectional all-state orchestra. Cynthia Harris was one of the two flutes chosen, and Bill Imhof, Barry Bockus and Anne Bowditch upheld the string section along with Karin Broemmer,

And we mustn't forget the tuba that carried Jerry Rhodes to a brilliant showing in the all-state band. In the essay contest, "What Music Means to Me," Don Dawidoff won top honors with Midge Wilken coming in second.

Both were awarded their prizes at the Manhasset Glee Club concert, on the night of the "little" snow, when the conductor never even got there.

tures taken. Another feature was the Tower Fashion Show with the senior girls parading Lord and Taylor's clothes. MHS' Cub Reporter underwent a storm of criticism, but with Captain Bancroft and Assistant Editors Hamlett, Burgess, Shaw, Scudder and Dawidoff, weathered the tempest and came through with a paper to the students' liking.

The library was rearranged with reference shelves parading down the center. A book sale was held for which students brought in their "Peter Rabbits" and bought someone else's "Winnie the Pooh." Proceeds (not pooh-bears) went to CARE. As a result, five ten-dollar CARE packages went to Europe. The Herald Tribune sale was resumed, and every morning the printed pages could be seen in front of the students' faces. The English department battled bravely to help save the Walt Whitman homestead, and with the students' support, contributed to this project, and helped save the "good gray poet's" old home

Some people don't like water. But since it's an excellent thirst quencher, there's no reason to complain about it. But somehow, at the first G. O. dance, people didn't appreciate this fact. Alas! The punch! Anyhow, the dance was a success, and the little green cards were punched right and left.

Other little cards circled around MHS, but these were not so popular. They were yellow, and conveyed a very special meaning. "Uncle Ken" was always inviting us down for a visit, and we usually went not completely from the desire of our little hearts either

Along came October 31 and with it the annual Hallowe'en party. Unfortunately, no broomsticks appeared, except in the hands of the clean-up committee, and the party was in traditional hobo style. The dancing and bingo made their usual hit, and MHS students went home well "bushed."

The ghost of a dead painter was seen floating around the halls in the fall, as rehearsals for The Late Christopher Bean got under way under Mrs. Hansen's direction. Jean Andersen starred as the staunch and loyal Abby, with Marc Brugnani as the rather befuddled doctor, and Jayne Hamlett as the haughty, thoughtless Mrs. Haggett. Ted Bessell and Dan Milloy crying "Dr. Haggett, you've been swindled!" brought veritable gasps from the audience, as the people backstage trembled for the safety of the set. In the cafeteria, Rosemarie Barry played a fast game of football with her understudies who, incidentally, gave a very commendable performance for the cast. The status of an understudy is rising.

The Guidance Office boasted two new members, Miss Crain and Mr. Mason. Along with Miss Boze, they tried to help all of us to decide where to go to college, and other little problems in our lives. Vocational training and jobs were among the usual subjects discussed with our advisors.

The seniors all tore out of their homerooms one day and headed for the Guidance Office where they found out, to their great joy, or dismay, their class standing. Then the long-awaited day finally arrived when twenty-three seniors became members of the National Honor Society. We had begun to wonder if they'd forgotten about electing people from the class of '52 to this honor group. At last the members were chosen and Mr. Vassiliw happily posed with the chosen few for a Cub "splash."

Three students, Anne Drolet, Margaret Ekstein and Harold Powell were the winners from MHS to compete in the finals of the American History Contest. Anne was awarded a second prize of fifty dollars.

A cry for help went out from Korea, and the Service Committee responded by sponsoring a clothing drive. Four huge boxes were put in the hall, and the classes joined in with their usual bubbling enthusiasm, and sent many articles of clothing to the Save the Child Federation. The

The Youth Center started off with big ideas and the first dance was a great success. Movies and other attractions were offered to the students, who responded with good attendance. One Monday night MHS students could be seen going from house to house, ringing doorbells. No, it wasn't

Dave Wright called for action as far as the GO was concerned. A democracy can be only as strong as the people, and too much power rested in his hands and in the council's. At the same time, Sue Gross was madly taking notes, to be typed later on, in spite of her awful secret—she can't type!

The Student-Faculty committees swung into action at the beginning of the year. The seniors are still hoping for a privilege room. Better luck next year. However, other things, perhaps more important, were accomplished, such as setting up and activity-coordinating committee to smooth out any difficulties among activities.

Judge Clifton Phalen presided over the Student Court, as violators of the law were brought before him. The justice held full sway and all offenders were punished fairly—at least in the court's opinion. Other people cringed before Proctor Court. —well, anyhow, they were varied. One outstanding one was the American Education Week panel, which was arranged by a frosh social studies class. During UN week, students from foreign countries were our visitors and spoke in the assembly about their native lands. Football movies were shown to us for one whole period. On the lighter side, there were the Colgate Thirteen and their famous Russian dancer with the "dual personality."

Radio Workshop harnessed the airwaves with a performance of "The Christmas That Almost Wasn't" by Mary Lynn Whitman. Santa Claus was portrayed by Steve Heiman whose reindeer, Rudolph, was his constant companion and "cheer-upper." His name is Marc Riefeld in real life. Jean Andersen was Santa's patient wife, and Lynn Coulter the crippled girl, Louise, who realized the real meaning of Christmas.

The French Club met every other Tuesday night at the homes of the various members. Midge Wilken became very adept at directing people to the wrong houses, notably Mr. Hoffman's. The Spanish III Club had wild games of baseball, with Miss D. cheering them on. They also spoke a little Spanish at times. Herr Ringwald's German Club took a memorable trip to the city, and the poor man found himself trying to be in sixteen different places at once, as the members took off in various directions. Pity the poor teacher; he's only human. The English Club alternated with Discussion Club on Monday nights, and had lively literary and contemporary discussions. Christopher Fry's play, A Sleep of Prisoners, was seen by the MHSDG. Although the students were a little baffled, they enjoyed the play as a whole. The Intercultural Group began a worthwhile project in having speakers from the various churches in the community come and talk to the group. This meaningful venture helped to combat prejudice and intolerance in the school and community. The meetings were open to anyone interested. A new club was formed, for bridge players, and students and faculty battled wits and guesses to squeak their opponents.

The senior class accepted a challenge in taking on responsibility for raising money for the North Shore Hospital Drive. Don Hess, as president of the class, started the project on its way by setting a goal for every single senior contributing something, however small it might have been. The seniors had a chance to prove their merit.

Then as the drifting, white snowflakes in our imagination fell to the ground, the Christmas season arrived, and with it all the parties, presents and other festive activities that go with the Christmas holidays. But instead of the usual pageant, something different was introduced. "Behold the Man" was an expression of the forever present hope and faith that are always waiting to lead mankind. The pageant, compiled by Mary Lynn Whitman, began with the creation of the world and told the history of man's struggle up to modern times. Brad Wright, as the Voice of God, Peter Gross as Conscience, and Ed Smith as Man gave performances that were moving and commanding. Cain and Abel were dramatically portrayed by Steve Heiman and Gerry Johnson. The shepherds, Tex Moore, Jeb Stuart and Bill Butler, were joined by Dick Lane as the little shepherd with a big message.

But now the never-to-be-forgotten year was coming to a close, and MHS students gathered around the Bell for a good old round of carols. For many of us, the new year would be both a beginning and an ending, and we looked forward to it with few misgivings and a great deal of anticipation.

BRIDGE CLUB

WINTER

WHO can forget the sensational Prom, "White Christmas," presented by the class of '52? The band was fabulous, the refreshments plentiful, and despite the frantic, last-minute hurrying to finish decorating, the gym was virtually an enchanted snow-covered forest.

Cookie and Ronnie, as Queen and King, were just perfect to highlight a Prom of all Proms.

Then we were back in MHS after the rush and gaiety of the holiday season. Now came the rush (without the gaiety) to get caught up on our schoolwork! There were lots of activities to keep us busy, too. Only one day after school opened, students from French II and French III classes went with Madame Hare into New York to see Uta Hagen in Shaw's Saint Joan. That Saturday, the Leaders Club reported raising $46 for hockey camp scholarships at their cake sale downtown.

Our G. O. swung into action on an expanded program of school improvement. Bill Butler, Chairman of Student Congress, and a committee comprised of Joan Mikkelsen, Tex Moore, Jay Ward, Lois Middleton and Mr. Ganley, began work to revise the existing laws that caused delay in passing student motions.

Four groups, the Activity Coordinating Committee, the Welcoming Committee, the Disciplinary Committee, and the Parking Lot Proctors, began work. Keeping order in the parking lot and attending to problems that arose there were the difficult jobs of the Parking Lot Proctors. Remember how several boys couldn't lock their hot rods?

SCHOOL STORY

How disappointed underclassmen were when they couldn't crawl into someone else's car at lunch? How short the snowball fights became?

Why and how do people get in the habit of taking narcotics? What cures are offered to drug addicts? What is the history of narcotics? What must we know about them? The answers appeared in a booklet put out by Mr. Alpren's third period English class.

It will take us a long time to forget Lathifah Sabarudin's charm and quick mind, Ami Tal's moustache, Hussein Mohammed Gaafar's fez and the extraordinary ability in speaking English shown by our Herald Tribune forum-sponsored visitors. For two weeks in January, Betsy Kyle, Don Dawidoff and Jerry Rhodes were hosts to these three high school students from Indonesia, Israel and Egypt.

National recognition came to MHS as Anne Drolet won the $50 second prize in the Long Island Division of the Hearst newspapers' nationwide American History Contest.

Into the midst of everything slunk Regents Week from January 21-25. When school closed on Thursday and Friday many of us needed the four day weekend to recuperate! Report cards followed with 120 students on the MHS honor roll.

A whirl of dances filled MHS weekends as January swiftly slipped by into February. Bill Pierce's band provided music for our second G. O.

Dance. To supplement its successful after school candy sales, there was the Service Committee's sparkling "Winter Whirl," which raised $40 for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Next came the dance many MHS girls had been waiting for with bated breath since last September—the Tower Valentine Hop. Its name was "Cupid's Capers," and it was the first MHS dance to have both program cards and a thirteen piece band. We liked both ideas, and congratulations went from everyone to Chairman Steve McGeeney and his committee heads. The crowning glory of this evening came when Cupid shot his arrow through the big red heart, and Joan Toombs and Charley Martin appeared as Queen and King of Hearts.

MHS students enjoyed the orchestra's performance on January 29, especially the selections from Showboat and the solos of pianist Mary Lynn Whitman and cellist Bill Imhof. This afternoon assembly also included Haydn's "London Symphony" and Leroy Anderson's "The Waltzing Cat."

The MHS Library Council, accompanied by Miss Hoch and Mrs. Gerhardt, visited the New York Public Library on January 30 and then saw "The Greatest Show on Earth"

"Going, going, gone!" The freshman auction on February 5 netted more than $10, thanks to the work of Chairmen Claudia Liebrecht and Martha Fincke.

The 1952 Tower sales campaign was on! With posters reminding us to buy our Tower before March 1 when the price would go up to $4, Tower salesmen appeared everywhere with their little pens and booklets in hand.

Climb aboard the "MHS Pinafore," with lyrics by our own Cynthia Freitag, for the time of your life! The date was February 5, and the class of '52 was presenting its fabulous Tower musical. How we laughed at the antics of the cast and hummed the catchy songs of the "crew" accompanied on the piano by Mary Lynn Whitman.

In our next assembly, Mr. Howard stressed the need for student responsibility by comparing it to this definition of democracy: "The first generation fights for it; the second generation enjoys it; the third generation misuses it; the fourth generation loses it." The decision was ours: Would we become more worthy of our school?

Do you remember seeing a crowd of seniors around MHS halls in dungarees and old shirts? Doc's Applied Chemistry classes were creating indelible lipsticks with such names as "Kissite" and "Midnight Mistake." P.S.—The boys made shaving cream.

With its juke box repaired, over $1000 in the treasury, records donated each month by the Manhasset Music Center, and a television set given by Mr. E. F. Carter of Sylvania Products, the Manhasset Youth Center looked forward to a prosperous year. This winter it sponsored dancing in the gym after home basketball games, and was open in the High School General Purpose Room on Saturday nights.

Beverly Beech was voted Manhasset's "Miss Arnold Constable" when she and five other senior girls, Ellen Dolan, Jane Hamlett, Marilyn Mattson, Nancy Whitenack and Lois Worrell modeled teen fashions at Arnold Constable's on February 16.

Our Modern Dance Group displayed its talent on February 20 when, under the direction of Sandy Peterson, the girls enacted scenes from Cinderella for their parents.

"What do you want most at your G. O. Dances?" asked the G. O. Dance Committee's questionnaire.

"Program cards, punch, brownies, a smooth dance band," voted MHS.

Other suggestions included special entertainment, more publicity, permission to go in and out, and more dances.

hit the air waves again! "O'Halloran's Luck," starring John Sheridan, was broadcast by the Radio Workshop over station WSHS.

Another chance came for MHS girls to ask out their favorite boys, when the class of '54 presented "Emerald Isle," the annual Soph Hop, on March 15. Brad Wright was chairman; the committee of Betsy Pflug and Cissy Morrow colorfully decorated the gym; and Bev Feuss and Beth Mezey were in charge of providing the entertainment. Judy Dawidoff handled publicity; Carol Ostergren, tickets; and Flavia Seeger, refreshments.

So, as winter became spring, we of MHS had an active season to look back on, an even more pleasant one to look forward to, and a wealth of memories to last us for a long time.

BOYS' SPORTS

THE spring sports season brought with it mixed feelings as to the success of the MHS teams. We had won the baseball championship the year before and with a team made up mostly of veterans, we were pretty sure of a similar success.

However, the picture was different as far as the other boys' sports were concerned. The lacrosse team had lost most of its best players through graduation. The track team lacked enough men to fill up all of the events. The golf team had most of last year's players returning and it hoped for a good year.

As the season moved along, the baseball team seemed to be living up to expectations. It remained undefeated until the championship was secured and when the season ended, the boys had won eight times and lost twice. Pitchers Lloyd Johnson and Marshall Rogan took the honors on the pitching staff with season records of 5-1 and 3-1 respectively.

In contrast to the bright baseball picture, the weeks that followed brought with them little success for the lacrosse team. The team managed to win five games throughout the season. However, and a majority of its losses were by one or two points. Burt Houseworth, Jim Brown, and Neil Christman made the first string all-scholastic team. Burt Houseworth won the Voegler Award for his display of team spirit as a goalie.

The track team concluded its season after having beaten only Sea Cliff. However, several of the cindermen succeeded in gaining impressive records. Jim Wagner ran away with most of the sprints and Jim Clampett and Bill Butler were consistent point-getters in the distance events. Ed Russell and Dave Wright excelled in the field events.

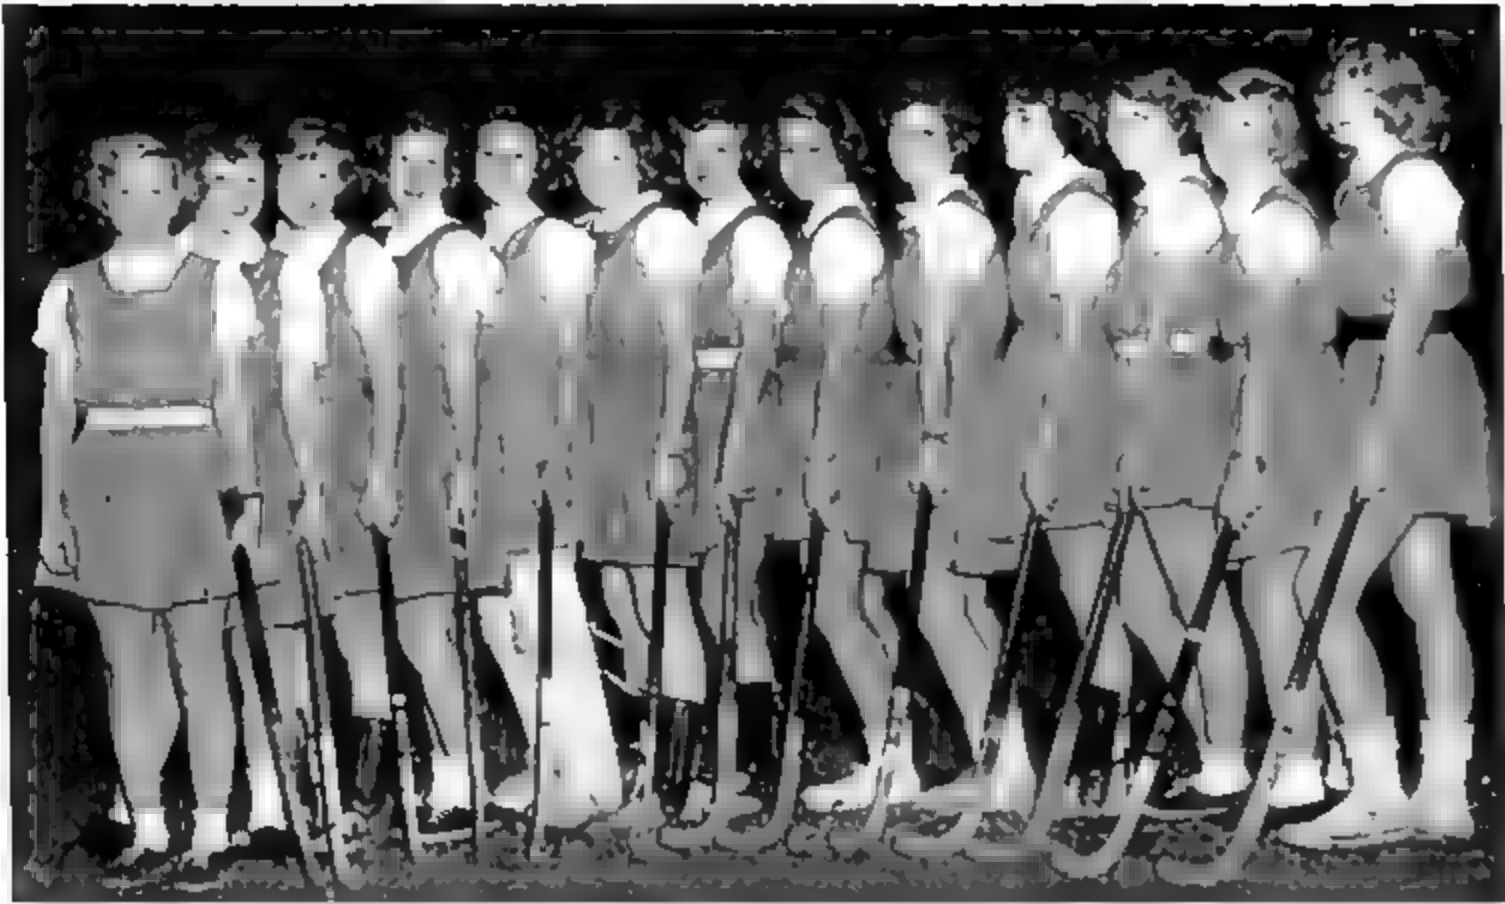

The fall sports season picked up rapidly, and our first football game found the Indians trouncing a baffled East Rockaway team 31-6. The next Saturday, we were defeated by Oyster Bay 34-12. Our third contest was a hard-fought duel with Port Washington which ended in an 8-6 win for Manhasset. The team was not to be stopped for the rest of the season, and piled up a series of impressive victories.

The game with Garden City was the climax of Manhasset's victorious season. By the end of the half, Manhasset had built up a substantial 18-6 lead on Jim Brown's three touchdowns. In the second half, the Indians scored twice and Garden City once. The confetti flew and Manhasset finished the season with a record of six wins and one defeat.

The 1951 football season produced many outstanding players for MHS. Jim Brown, Ron Wagner, and Jim Wagner were responsible for most of the team's yardage. Jerry Jacob, Don Dawidoff and Roger Dann along with Dave Wright and Bill Lawrence were some of the linemen who helped make the team what it was. Andy Bergesen did most of the passing. Bill Zechausen kicked most of the extra points and Harvey Cooke did the punting honors. Jim Brown finished the season with fourteen touchdowns.

The fall season found the soccer team looking better than it had in many years. This was due to the skill of Charlie Martin, Tom Flance, Don Honey, John Stranahan, and goalie Don Ikle, all of whom added greatly to the success of the team. The end of the season found them in third place.

The freshman football team ended their season with a record of four wins, one loss, and a tie. Eddie Logue and Robert Greene looked very promising and will very likely be important men on the varsity team in years to come.

When the time for our first league basketball game drew near, we were skeptical about our chances of success. The picture was not altogether clouded, however, because our boys had shown up fairly well against Farmingdale. Our hopes suffered a severe setback, when we saw our team go down to a heartbreaking defeat at the hands of a steady Glen Cove team, which, when the final buzzer sounded, led us by the small margin of two points.

In the next week, we were beaten by Port Washington 56-39. We held a substantial lead at the half but fritted it away when, in the third quarter, we were unable to score a single point. This situation turned out to be a foreshadowing of things to come, for we were to lose many games in the future.

Great Neck was our host in the following game. We found ourselves to be somewhat outclassed by our skillful opponents and we were again decisively the losers.

By this time our hopes of having a high league standing were pretty dim. However, we continued to draw large enthusiastic crowds to the gymnasium. On the night of January 25, we faced Mineola's five who were, at the time, undefeated. Towards the end of the third quarter our players, driven to the peak of their ability by the thought of a sensational upset, managed to draw within six points of the league leaders. Both teams were playing under a great nervous strain and suddenly a fight broke out. All the players poured out on the floor with a large portion of the spectators at their heels. It was several minutes before play could resume and Manhasset went on to lose 62-45.

Our losing streak continued week after week and we gradually became accustomed to defeat. We even expected it but we were always ready to cheer for our team when things were going well and keep on cheering when they weren't. In other words, we hadn't lost our spirit. We bowed to Garden City on February 1 and on the following week, in the afternoon, we came within eight points of defeating Glen Cove. We probably would have won that game had it not been that Jim Brown, the team's high scorer, was unable to play.

The next game saw Port Washington more than double our score, but the following Friday, we made an excellent showing against Great Neck which was, at the time, one of the league's top teams. We led at the half, but Great Neck succeeded in getting the better of us in the final minutes of play and we again bowed 54-51.

We dropped our second game to Mineola and then wound up the season with a high-scoring, rip-roaring thriller which, when ended, found Manhasset the unhappy recipient of a four point deficit. The score was 81-77.

Although the team was unable to win in league play, it was not a bad season from the standpoint of providing interest and excitement for the spectators. Even though the team lost, it was gratifying to watch Jim Brown's spectacular performances. We saw him score thirty, thirty-five, and in the second Garden City game, forty-two points. Moreover, there were many close games that were well worth seeing. One night we watched Lloyd Johnson, who wasn't usually a high point getter, trade places with Jim Brown and score twenty points. We saw Robert Greene, a freshman, make good on varsity and wondered how Marshall Rogan could be everywhere at once.

The wrestling team enjoyed its first full schedule this year. Despite the talents of John Lane and Harold Powell, who have shown great skill on the mat, the team was able to win only one meet. The wrestlers came within a few points of winning on several occasions. When they did win, they did so decisively, beating New Rochelle in all but one of the individual matches.

complete undefeated seasons, but they did play well and they fought hard. We can look upon this year as a fine one in the MHS sports record.

GIRLS' SPORTS

WHEN the girls look back at Manhasset High days, one of their most cherished memories will be that of Sports Night. Climaxing a year of competition, this traditional event finds the girls of the Orange and Blue teams in their final competition after months of preparation preceding the "Big Show."

In 1951, the girls of the Orange swayed into the gym pulling Captain Paula Walter on a flower-decorated float.

The Blue team sang the songs of the Gay Nineties as they entered, dressed as can-can girls, baseball players and barber shop quartets. The climax came when Captain Marilyn Wittschen won the bathing beauty contest.

An interesting exhibition of tumbling and tap dancing delighted the spectators; the relay races personified the do-or-die spirit of the girls.

Last year's championship bowling team was made up almost entirely of seniors and as a result, the team had to be completely rebuilt. Consequently, we suffered many more setbacks than victories.

The rifle team, in its second year of competition, wound up its season in a tie for second place with a 7-3 record. Bob McMullen was an outstanding marksman for the team.

On the whole, the sports year of 1950-1951 was a very successful one. Our teams didn't all

The teams were evenly matched and when all the points were added up, the Orange team was victorious. They had worked hard for their victory and had won it fairly.

Last spring the Honor and Reserve Softball teams had a good season. The Honor Team won three games and lost one. The Reserves had two wins and two losses.

Lacrosse shares the honors with softball as Manhasset's favorite spring sport. Our girls were victorious in two games, losing only one in their first year of competition with other schools.

The girls turned out and had a lot of fun at playdays with Great Neck and Port Washington. They participated in archery, tennis and softball and represented MHS successfully.

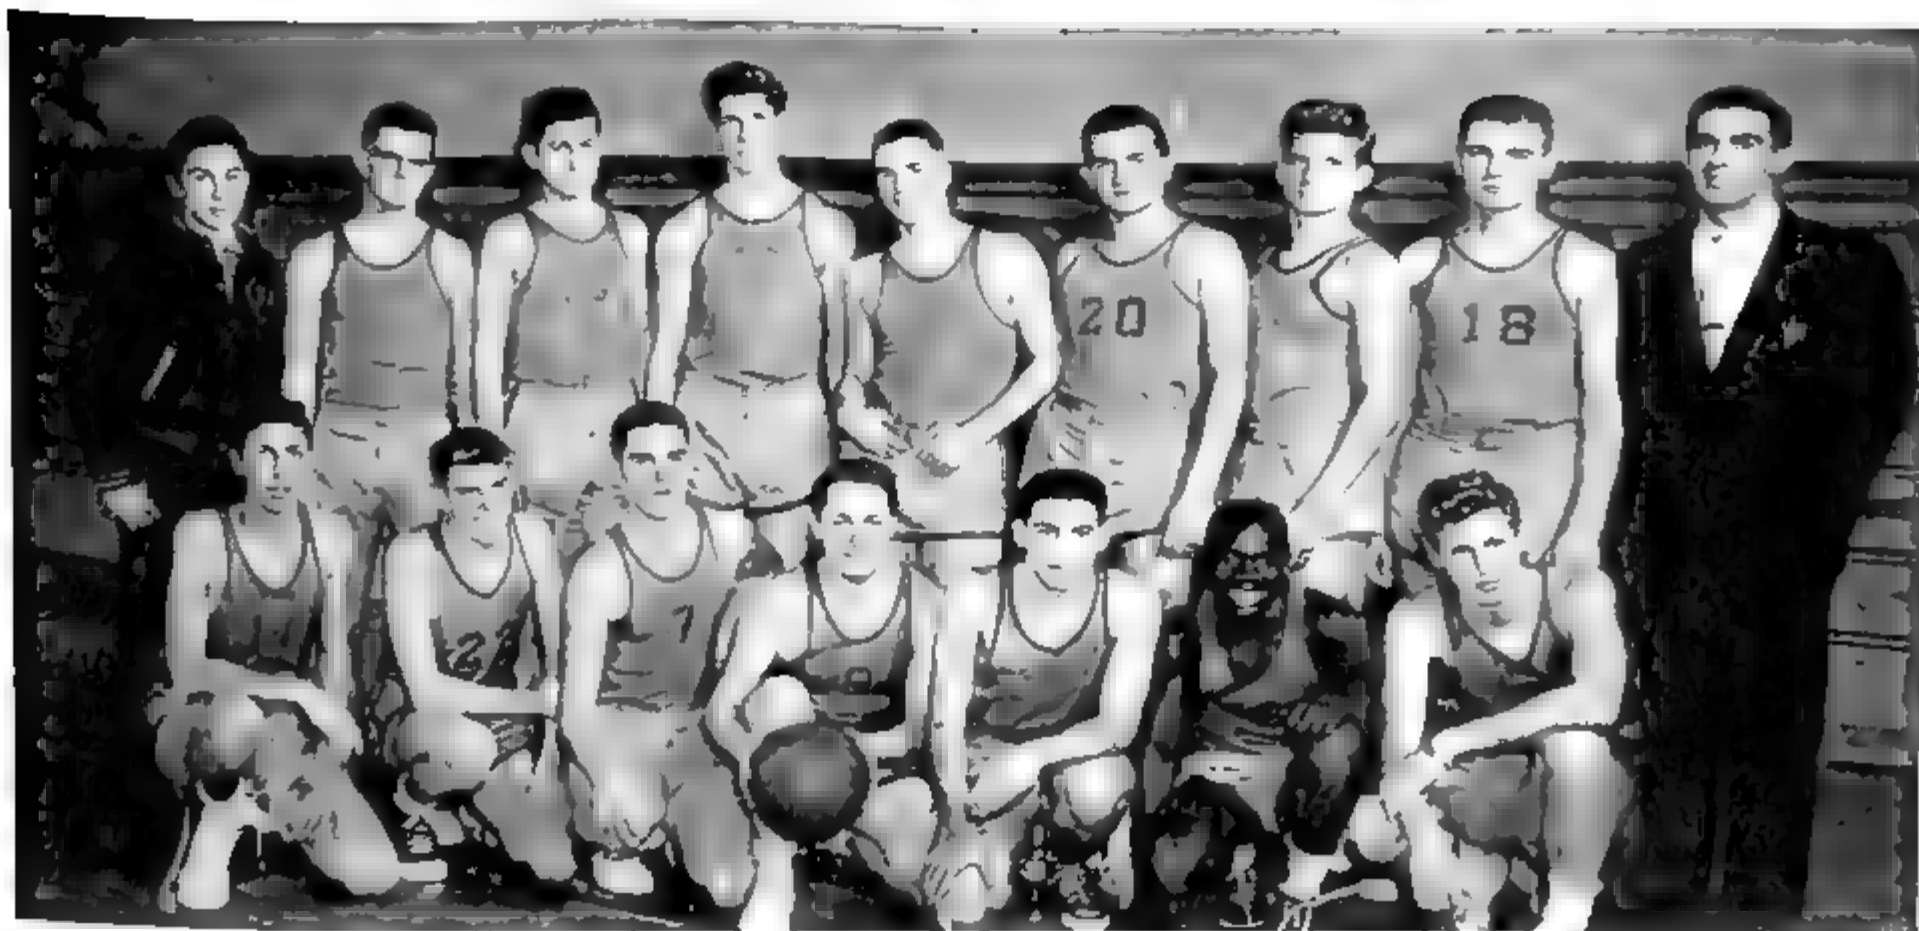

The G. A. C. elections, usually held in the fall, took place for the first time this spring. Sally O-Callaghan was voted Head, with Dixie Rozell as her assistant. Carole Smith became Secretary, and Mary Ryan, Assistant Secretary. These were the girls who were to plan the sports program for 1951-1952.

The end of the season was marked by a Sports Award Assembly held in June. Lyda Stone won the trophy for most points earned with Paula Walter a close second.

No one knows whether it was due to their summer vacation or the crisp autumn air, but the girls of Manhasset started off their fall sports season with a bang.

Tennis and soccer had many devotees. However, the overwhelming favorite was hockey.

Much credit for the hockey Honor Team's record goes to those outstanding players, Ann Stiegler and Nancy Porteus. And we shall always remember the many goals stopped by our goalie, Ruth Bauser.

Reserve stars, Betty Bonn and Cynthia Harris, were partly responsible for the team's record of three wins, one tie and one loss.

Most notable players in the tennis contingent were Debbie Maynard, Bettie Thorpe, Carol Skidmore, Carole Smith and Sally O'Callaghan.

October brought Sports Week, and the final results were 7 points for the Blue and 4 points for the Orange. These points count toward Sports Night.

Another tradition has been added to Manhasset's treasured list. The G. A. C. sponsored a Father-Daughter night for the first time. Dads and their daughters competed in bingo, ping-pong, volleyball, basketball, bowling and charades. Although there was quite a bit of carefully concealed huffing and puffing, the fathers were all great sports and joined in the games enthusiastically. The climax came with square dancing in the gym. Everyone agreed that the affair was a big success, well-qualified to join the ranks of our other time-honored traditions!

As cold winds stripped the trees on the campus of their last clinging leaves, the girls of Manhasset moved indoors for sports.

Thanksgiving ushered in volleyball, bowling and dancing. The New Year heralded tumbling, basketball and ice-skating.

The volleyball class teams upheld our good names in Playdays with Great Neck, Port Washington, Hicksville and Westbury. The sophomores made the best record, winning three games and losing one. Climaxing the season was Volleyball Night, in which the Orange Team won three games and the Blue Team one. The winners of eleven gym classes also played off that night, resulting in a defeat of 'The Assorted Nuts' by

"The Monsters."

Monday afternoons found the bowlers hard at work. Leading the high scorers were Bev Feuss, Sue Langjahr and Midge Wilken.

Tumbling had its usual large quota of apparently double-jointed young ladies. Among those doing headstands and other astonishing feats on the mat, Diane Tendler, Martha Fincke and Marilyn Mattson seemed especially agile.

Basketball, as always, attracted many participants. Perhaps it was the names of their teams that inspired these groups, for the intramural competition ended in victory for the "Jellyfish" and "The Platapusess." The Honor and Reserve Teams were chosen early in February.

While winter cast its icy spell, the girls played on, and all omens (save the groundhog!) pointed to a good season ahead.

All in all it has been a good year for girls sports—one which Manhasset High School girls will remember as being filled with work, excitement and lots of fun.
